Coruripe plant migrates its SAP system to Azure Cloud with Solo Network.

Highlights

- Improved performance with SAP on Azure
- Scalable platform to meet future needs and growth
- On-demand growth generating savings
- Unified and simplified management

The client:

The Coruripe plant is one of the biggest sugar cane processing plants in Brazil providing sugar and derivatives to all of Brazil and foreign countries. Founded in the northeast in 1925 from the union of various sugar cane processing mills, the company has its headquarters at Maceió City and 8 units spread throughout Brazil.

Understanding client needs

When Solo Network was named to manage its cloud project, the Coruripe group had the need to migrate their structure to a solution that could support the big volume of data. In other words, that could enable a large scale production environment and less management complexity, which is divided into two scenarios: Local Data Center with internal applications and SAP environment, that needed a performance gain with easy management by one unique flexible platform with scalability.

The solution

After analyzing the environment and the client needs of the client, Solo Network started the consulting project to migrate the Cururipe structure to Azure, which contemplated the study of the environment, project design, pricing and scale – using a freefloating scenario. Solo Network applied all its expertise on supply and customer support on the migration to the cloud, being side by side with Coruripe’s personnel in all project stages. The detailed analysis of the client’s challenges allowed to present specific solutions that fulfilled the company’s needs – to implement an innovative, scalable and reliable technology to store data, as well as a platform that’s easily managed and growth on demand.

Products and services

|---------------------------------------|-------------------|
| Complex and time-consuming management | Easily managed    |
| High costs to data center expansion   | Growth on demand. |

Customer Testimonial

“The partnership with Solo Network helped us on the decision process of Microsoft Azure adoption, providing safety and reliability since the planning until the monitoring with the technical team. The team was assertive on the whole environment design, bringing us the short- and medium-term vision of the project, where we aim to have more than 80% of the Coruripe environment running on Azure. Besides security, we could become pioneers in case of SAP on Azure on the Sugar Cane Mills segment.”
